This Week's Focus

This week, we will be reviewing what we have learned this year. We will spend some time reviewing sight words and addition, subtraction and shapes. We will talk about the goals we have reached this year and goals we would like to reach as first graders. We will also write a piece of advice for our upcoming Kindergarten students, which will be read in August.

Dear Parents ~

It was a great pleasure to have your little ones in our class this year. We learned so many things. Your children are proud because they finally know how to read and write.

This year is over, so now we return your children to you, the same children that you entrusted to our care last fall. We return them with a few more pounds, a few inches taller, and months wiser, more responsible, and more mature than back then.

Even though they would have grown without our help, it has been a pleasure and a privilege to see their personalities grow day by day and see how they have developed in their learning.

We have laughed, played, studied, learned and enriched our lives during the year. Take care of your children, for they are precious.

Remember that we will always have a great interest in your children and their destinies, wherever they may go, whatever they do and whoever they become.
